Jason Lavender is one of the two original founders of ID Theft Solutions of America and is recognized world-wide as a leading expert on corporate and individual identity theft. He has been featured in several publications and news articles, and is often chosen as a keynote speaker on the topic of risk management and identity theft. While many other “experts” were only telling people about credit card fraud, Mr. Lavender and his team were helping reveal that in fact there are multiple facets to identity theft which individuals and businesses need to be educated about. He has helped to implement Identity Theft Prevention and related programs which today help protect over 1.5 million individuals. His passion is helping educate businesses and their employees on the risks associated with identity theft and teaching individuals how to be more proactive vs. reactive to this crime.

Mr. Lavender has been certified by the Institute of Fraud Risk Management as a Certified Identity Theft Risk Management Specialist (CITRMS) and Certified Identity Protection Advisor (CIPA). In addition, he is also a recognized Society of Human Resource Manager’s trainer. He has worked alongside many law enforcement agencies as well as The United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Mr. Lavender is heavily involved with the National Foster Parent Association and currently serves on the Board of Wonders & Worries, an organization that helps children cope when their loved one has a critical illness.
