
KEVIN PUTNAM

Kevin Putnam is one of the two original founders of ID Theft Solutions of America specializing in corporate and individual identity theft prevention. Mr. Putnam's experience with identity theft began prior to this venture when he worked within the field of distressed debt. He saw firsthand how lives were affected from the loss of personal information and negative credit histories, which has led to great success as an educator within the world of identity theft. His current objectives include developing strategic partnerships with State and National associations to bring additional resources to their member base through preventive education. During his tenure with IDTSOA he has trained countless individuals on the importance of protecting sensitive information at the employee level. His passion is watching the cultural shift within the workplace after the identity theft prevention program has been implemented. Mr. Putnam has been certified by the Institute of Fraud & Risk Management as a Certified Identity Theft Risk Management Specialist (CITRMS). Currently Mr. Putnam is an active Board Member with the Austin Chapter of ARMA (Association of Records Managers and Administrators).
